

Just Landed in the UK

Welcome to Britain! If you are here as a tourist, we can help make finding kosher food a lot easier.

There is a huge variety of approved and KLBD certified (hechshered) food items available across the UK, so wherever you go, you won't go hungry. You can browse through a full list of these products in The Really Jewish Food Guide [1] or alternatively the Kosher Nosh Guide [2] can be downloaded free of charge. You can also look up products using our superfast search www.isitkosher.uk [3], which works offline once you have visited the website, and is available as an iPhone [4] and android [5] app.

If you are going to be touring in London, then take a look at our list of Kosher establishments [6] which gives the locations and details of kosher restaurants, bakeries and shops.

DD's [7] kosher sandwiches are available from a number of outlets at Heathrow airport, as well as train stations, shops, hospitals and supermarkets in London. 1070 Kitchen [8] supplies double wrapped, sealed food to the Blush Lounge at Heathrow T4 and has a kosher fridge in Selfridges, selling pre-packed foods.

Outside of London and Manchester, keeping kosher gets a bit more difficult, but if you have a copy of The Really Jewish Food Guide [1], you can look for nearby kosher certified establishments in the Provinces, under the supervision of local kashrut authorities.

In addition, Sabeny [9] delivers throughout the UK, Just Kosher [10] delivers to Brighton, Cambridge, Oxford, reading, Southend and South London and Kosher Deli [11] delivers to the Home Counties. Hermolis [12] can deliver ready-to-eat meals to where you are staying.
